Winter, who resumed office and retained it till the 22nd August 1668, when Mr. Foxcroft was released and reinstated by the Commissioners from England.

a The first four Governors held Bombay for the Crown. The island was handed over to the Company on the 23rd September 1664. For the next nineteen years (1665-1687), except for occasional visits, and during three years (1672-1675) of Governor Aungier's rule, the Governors of Bombay spent almost the whole of their time in Surat, of whose factory they were Presidents. During this time Bombay was administered by an officer styled Deputy Governor. The transfer, in 1687, of the head quarters of the Company's power to Bombay to a great extent did away with the post of a Deputy Governor. But in spite of the change the title continued for many years to be borne by the second Member of Council. It would seem to have fallen into disuse some time between 1720 and 1728.

b Child was Governor and General with his head quarters in Bombay, where he moved from Surat on the 2nd May 1687, and where he died on the 4th February 1690. In the year 1683 Bombay was the scene of a revolt against the Company's authority. The head of the rebellion was Captain Richard Keigwin, the third Member of Council. Placing the Deputy Governor under arrest, Keigwin ruled Bombay in the King's name from the 27th December 1683 to the 19th November 1684, when on promise of pardon he handed over the island to Admiral Sir Thomas Grantham.

c Under Gayer, Waite, and Aislabie—that is from 1694 to 1715—Bombay Governors held the title of General. During the last three years (1701-1704) of his nominal command Gayer was in confinement in Surat.

d Proceeded to Madras on duty in August 1793, and thence joined the Council of the Governor General as Commander-in-Chief in India on the 28th October 1793.
